

Motivation Letter

Dear Hiring Manager,

As a software development student with experience in Python, JavaScript, and web development, I am excited about this opportunity.

My projects, including context menu manager and VS Code extensions, demonstrate my practical skills and problem-solving abilities. I am eager to learn and grow in a professional environment while contributing to your team's success. You can explore my complete portfolio at abd-dev.studio and view my extensive project collection, technical skills, and professional experience on my GitHub profile at github.com/abdxdev.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of discussing my qualifications further.

Sincerely,

Abdul Rahman (abd)
